our story

Frugal Finds LLC was created by Elizabeth Santana and Yvonne McClellan, two native New Yorkers that listen to the pulse of the City, are in sync with NYC's diverse street fashion and obsessed with helping others find a great find. Refusing to pay retail, we decided to take full advantage of NYC's many resources and learned that we can look alive, live fine and feel good without paying high-end prices. Now we want the same for you...after all, it's not just a city, it's New York.

about frugalfindsnyc.com

Frugalfindsnyc.com is a local, comprehensive, easy to use and convenient visual shopping website guide that caters to the style-savvy and professional New Yorkers. At no cost to our users, we offer New York shoppers a selection of all the latest trends, classics, vintage styles and home furnishings, not only advertising the product and the location but also their frugal price tags. We invite you to view our Women's, Men's, Beauty and Home Décor sections and be pleasantly amazed.

You are a click away from all the information you could want on what's going on in the city. Whether you feel like getting a quick mani/pedi, dine at a swanky café in one of the local neighborhoods, scope out some basement bhangra, or check out a new sheesha bar, you will find it all here. What's more, you can use us for apartment hunting, sample sales, deals, etc., which will be available to you through our Classified listing section.

choose us

Owner of a small boutique? Can't afford marketing and without it you can't compete? No time or staff to do it? Without announcing who you are and what you sell, how will anyone know? Frugalfindsnyc.com will attract customers with an exciting new concept — showcasing your products, services and location in and about your store on our website. All relating to the demographic that matters most: resourceful individuals — both male and female who shop often and locally.

mission

Our goal is simple — continuously bring new customers to retail stores and provide our members with everything they need relating to shopping and information all in one place. Frugal Finds will provide you with new customers and also help maintain long term relationships. We want to provide our users the best value through your products and provide you with the best customers. And we want you onboard!
